Designer: Dani Sass
Creative Director: Christie Chen
Site: The Zodiac Killer

- Mockup-B idea: pages on a screen
    - LOVE this idea for desktop, keep it simple (mockup A) for mobile
- Combine aspects for A and B for more cohesion across screen sizes
- Mobile:
    - I think the title gets a little lost – maybe some kind of differentiation?
    - I really like the idea for the zodiac symbol as the menu button instead of the hamburger, but we'll probably have to explore how clear that is for navigation next week
    - Photos seem float a little – maybe alignment would help?
    - Break up text into paragraphs with spaces in between
        - Maybe having images somewhere in there would help create some reading breaks, too!
    - I can help with the JS for the menu pop in
- Desktop
    - Think about how the papers will appear (moving in, just appearing, etc…)
    - Think about navigation! What is the user clicking to move between pages/content
    - There's a lot of text, so keep readability in mind :)

Goal for next week
- Hifi prototypes!
- HTML page with basic text – no need to complete styling yet
    - Decide if you want to do multiple/single page though!